

773.342.2229

SAFE HOUSE AND GARDEN PLANTS AND TREES

The plants and trees listed here are considered nontoxic or non-poisonous. Plants that are commonly known by more than one name have been listed under each name. Harmful side effects from eating or handling these plants are unlikely; however, any plant may cause an unexpected reaction in sensitive persons.

Abelia	Croton-house variety
Abyssinian sword lily	Dahlia
African daisy	Daisies
African palm	Dandelion
African violet	Day lily
Air plant	Dogwood
Aluminum plant	Donkey tail
Aralia	Dracaena or dragon tree
Aracucaria	Easter lily
Asparagus fern	Echeveria
Aspidistra	Eugenia
Aster	Gardernia
Baby's tears or baby's breath	Geranium
Bachelor buttons	Grape ivy
Bamboo palm	Hedge apples
Begonia	Hens and chicks
Birds' nest fern	Honeysuckle
Blood leaf plant	Hoya
Boston ferns	Jade plant
Bougainvillea	Kalanchoe
Bromeliads	Lily (day, easter, tiger)
Burro's tail	Lipstick plant
California holly	Lysima
California poppy	Magnolia
Camellia	Maidenhair fern
Cast iron plant	Marigold
Christmas cactus	Moneywort
Coleus	Monkey plant
Corn plant	Monkey puzzle
Crab apples	Norfolk island pine
Creeping charlie	Pansy
Creeping jennie	Parlor and paradise palm

Peperomia
Petunia
Piggyback plant
Prayer plant
Purple passion
Pyracantha
Rose
Sansevieria
Schefflera
Sensitive plant
Sentry palm

Silver dollar plant
Spider plant
Swedish ivy
Umbrella
Violets
Wandering Jew
Wax plant
Weeping fig
Weeping willow
Wild onion
Zebra plant

NOTE: If you have a plant or tree that does not appear on either of these pages, you should move it to an area of your home that is off limits to your child and contact your Poison Control Center for information.